Should They Stay or Should They Go?

Here's a guide for deciding which books to keep or get rid of at the end of the year:

Social Studies 10 books: KEEP. (never know when you'll need that Nietzsche; senior oral exam is not as far away as you'd like)

Gen-ed course packs: KEEP. Especially if Q guide difficulty rating ≤ 3.0 (pro tip: if you bought a course pack, rate the class easy to create demand)

Books that gave you insight into the human condition: KEEP.

Ec 10 textbook: DISCARD. They come out with a new edition every year so no one will buy it from you (Why study ec from someone who doesn't know how to make money?)

The Great American Novels that make you feel guilty every time you look at your bookshelf because you only got 1/6th of the way through: GIVE AWAY. They are someone else's burden now.

Quiz Answers

If you got mostly A's: --- just kidding!
This was not actually not a real quiz, but rather a tongue-in-cheek parody of the real security quiz that has been distributed over Mather Open, Mather Announce, and Mather Official. Please take the quiz – the Masters appreciate your feedback. Remember, theft happens – even in our Mather home.

Table Talk

If you could be any celebrity, who would you pick?

Do you still dream in your sleep?

What's the most useful thing you've ever memorized?

Poetry Corner

A little known fact about Sylvia Plath is that her second biggest preoccupation was having a decent GPA.

So finals, I'm finally through.
The black telephone's off at the root,
The voices just can't worm through.
If I've killed one test, I've killed two—
The vampire who said he was you
And drank my blood for a year,
Seven years, if you want to know.
Finals, you can lie back now.
There's a stake in your fat black heart
And the villagers never liked you.
They are dancing and stamping on you.
They always knew it was you.
Finals, finals, you bastard, I'm through.

"He didn't do anything, Gregory. This is a zoo."
