What Should You Go As for Halloween?

If you're lazy... don't do anything, just look tired and carry around a cup of coffee. You're a zombie.

If you like money... wear a suit and carry around a folio. You're someone who's doing OCI.

If you like Lorde... point at your teeth and wear an outfit from your adolescence. You're a "White Teeth Teen."

If you like books... don a short blond wig and large sunglasses. You're Joan Didion.

If you're a nerd... wear an oversize hamburger bun around your midsection. You're Mark Zuckerburger.

If you don't want to buy anything... assemble your most "basic" outfit from your closet/friends' possessions. Hold a Starbucks cup in one hand and your phone in the other. You're so basic.

If you like terrible jokes... you should wear a blue outfit, wrap an electrical cord around yourself, and tie a chicken to the end of it. You're chicken cord-on-blue.

If you want to do something topical... get together with two friends, have everyone wear white shirts, and attach a red dot to one shirt, a yellow dot to the other, and a green one to the third. You're Mather's new food labeling system.

If you like our fair house... wear a curled, powdered wig and ministerial garb. You're Increase Mather.

If you love our fair house... grab a friend of the opposite gender and go as Dr. Mike and Christie.

If you have twenty friends with no costume plans... wear extremely modest outfits and go as the Duggar family (for those of you not in the know—the Duggars are a conservative Christian family with nineteen children).

If all else fails... sexy baby.

Really Spooky Stories

- You completely forget that you have a midterm and walk into class with zero preparation (worse yet, you skip class that day)
 - You take two exam books but only fill one, and you accidentally turn in your empty book for grading and toss your completed exam booklet in the pile of unused blue books
 - You tumble down into the sunken courtyard one day while texting and walking on that precarious ledge that leads from the tower to the dhall
 - You send a really important email that somehow gets lost in the email abyss, never to be received. You assume the recipient got the email and just hates you, and that's why they haven't replied
 - While stalking your crush, you accidentally type their name into your Facebook status box instead of the search bar
- (Ed. note: These are all real fears of mine! Welcome to my life!!!*

Thoughts on Harvard's Newest Concentration

Make the most out of your liberal arts education. Study "Theater, Dance, and Media."

- Great, now I'll finally be able to cast my gender-inverted production of (fill in name of popular play).
- Words no parents want to hear: "Hey mom and dad, I'm concentrating in 'Theater, Dance, and Media.'"
- I thought this was what VES is for.
- It's like they want us to be unemployed.
- EGOT, here I come.
- My art!!!

How to Make Small Talk

Faculty Dinner is fast approaching. Get ready to brush up on your skills.

- People love talking about themselves. Try to focus the conversation on your dinner date. You won't have to say a word.
- If your date does ask you a question, answer with either yes or no and immediately turn the question back to them. Example: "Are you enjoying your senior fall?" "Yes. Are you enjoying your senior fall?"
- Professors: They're Just Like Us! Ask your scholarly companion what their favorite reality show is. I'm betting it's Catfish. (Wo)man cannot live on Baudelaire alone.

Musings

You can tell a lot about a person based on how they spell the word "halloween." Like, if they spell it Hallowe'en, they're definitely a witch. Ditto for those who call it "All Hallows' Eve."

Great, golden nuggets are nutrient neutral! I guess I can eat as many as I want!!

Water is nutrient rich? I know it's essential for human life, but I am pretty sure it is lacking nutritional value.

"All About That Bass" would be a lot funnier if she was talking about fish, and not low frequency sound.

Don't forget to attend the Halloween Happy Hour this week! Bring your dress-up A-game (or at least some game) and you might just win the costume contest.
