Rejected Soaps for Mather Lather

- Dr. Bronner's (too preachy, don't want to attract hippies in hemp bikinis preaching free love and the end of GMOs)
- Dial Antibacterial (too powerful, don't want to create a superbug)
- Dove (too moisturizing. Lather is not a spa experience)
- Soap from Lush (too strongly scented. That store gives me a headache)

Lather Themes That Didn't Make the Cut

Foam Alone: One kid, a pit of foam, two burglars. What could go wrong?

Foam on the Range: Mather's never had a Western-themed Lather. We're not sure why.

No Place Like Foam: We'd dye the foam green in homage to Dorothy's Emerald City adventures.

Foam Sweet Foam: You could go two ways with this one- 1) edible bubbles, or 2) "home" themed. Because who doesn't return home to a space monopolized by suds?

Bubbles, Ranked

- 1) Champagne
- 2) The kind you blow as a child, outside
- 3) Soap
- 4) Speech
- 5) Harvard
- 6) Tulip
- 7) Dot com
- 8) Real estate

Quiz Answers:

If you answered mostly A's, you should wear a swimsuit to Lather. You're always ready to party and Friday should be no exception.

If you answered mostly B's, you should wear shorts and a t-shirt to Lather. Consider Lather a chance to let go of some of your inhibitions.

If you answered mostly C's, you should wear your birthday suit to Lather. Good luck getting in!

So, how do I attend this party that's the talk of the table-topper?

- TICKETS: $10 (SEF eligible) for all students and $7 for Matherites*. On sale at the Harvard Box Office, during all Mather dinners, and at the door. We sell out every year, so buy your tickets early!

Matherite discount only applies when purchased in Mather*
