Table Talk

Need a conversation starter? Try these:

-On a scale of 1-10, how upset are you to be losing an hour of sleep this weekend? If you could get that hour back, what would you do with it?

-If you could make a potato chip with any flavor you could imagine, what would it be?

-If you had to eat only one HUDS dish for the rest of your life, what would it be, and why?

Dear Leighdra: Mather's Own Advice Column

Dear Leighdra,

I have two exams on the same day and I am worried that I won't be able to study enough for either of them. What should I do?

-Fear of Failure

Dear FoF,

If it's not too late, make a plan of attack. Devote a few hours each day to studying for your respective classes. Spend less time worrying and more time studying. Work in 30 minute intervals with short breaks in between. You might not have a lot of time on game day for last-minute cramming, but if you put in some effort to plan ahead, you won't need to cram.

Good luck!

Mather Blather

This week, we asked about your reaction to getting Mather on Housing Day. Here are some of your best submissions:

- "I fell down onto the floor and screamed"
- "Ambivalent. Wait, no. Unsure"
- "I predicted it two weeks in advance"
- "Before I was assigned a house, I told myself, 'I'd be happy anywhere but the quad.' I had forgotten about Mather..."
- "I was so unhappy... Until I went on the house tour with my blockmates and saw how awesome Mather's rooms are!"
- "AWESOME! Wait, I hope my linkmates don't get Dunster!"

For next week's Mather Blather: share your craziest spring break story! We want to hear about that night at Señor Frog's. Email us at gorillagazette@gmail.com.

Quiz Results:

If you answered mostly A's, you should go to the beach, each, let's go get away. Suggestions: Miami, Cancun, the Bahamas.

If you answered mostly B's, you should head off to the mountains to cut tracks in some fresh powder, brah. P.S. How are you not sick of the snow? Suggestions: Vail, Vermont.

If you answered mostly C's, you should stay on campus. Now get that nose back to the grindstone!
